

Horses Without Carriages International™
global support for a ban on horse-drawn carriages

Filipinos try to revive a horse that collapsed at a street in Manila epa02671918 Filipinos try to revive a horse that collapsed in a street in Manila, Philippines on 06 April 2011. Horses used to pull 'Calesa', a carriage engaged in providing transport services to tourists, are forced to dodge traffic and pound the pavement all day long, toiling in all weather extremes. Many horses end up suffering from unnecessary ailments. EPA/FRANCIS R. MALASIG

Source: EPA